Film Group Again Protests Red Quiz

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—John Howard Lawson, a writer, was called to the witness stand today as the House committee on un-American activities resumed its investigation of Communism in Hollywood. Lawson was named by Howard Rushmore, New York newspaperman, in testimony last week as one of the directors of Communist activities in Hollywood. Rushmore said he himself was formerly a Communist.

In the audience was a group of 25 film personalities, led by Humphrey Bogart, who came to the capital to protest the course of the committee's investigation.

When Chairman Thomas (R.) of New Jersey called Lawson's name as that of the next witness, Atty. Robert W. Kenny arose. Kenny renewed a motion he made last week to quash subpoenas issued for Lawson and 18 other Hollywood figures.

Kenny, former California Attorney-General, who is representing Lawson and the other 18, asked an immediate ruling on his motion which challenged the legality of the committee's action.

Thomas announced the committee would go into a private session to consider the motion. The members left the hearing room and went into a closed-door meeting in a room down the hall.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED
Bogart, with his actress wife, Lauren Bacall, and his associates came as spectators and "citizens" to buttonhole Representatives and urge them to do something about what they called the unfair procedure of the committee.

Traffic in front of the old House office building, where the hearings are being held, was blocked for 15 minutes while the group posed for photographers.

The posing done, the group went immediately into the building and took seats in the back of the hearing room. They were the only seats available. Other spectators had taken the front seats more than half an hour before.

TELLS DEMANDS
The star-studded party arrived by chartered plane last night and held a midnight news conference at which Director John Huston emphasized that members had no intention of creating a scene before the committee.

They intended, Huston said, to talk to individual members of Congress in an effort to "correct the abuses" they claim have been inherent in the committee's investigation.

"We hope eventually to see this committee legislated out of existence," Huston declared.

None of the group is among the two-score movie figures subpoenaed for the hearings, but members said they would be available as witnesses if the committee chose to call them. Otherwise they planned to attend as spectators, Huston said.

IGNORED BY SOLONS

The visitors indicated a particular desire to hear testimony by Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Ass'n, who was scheduled to be questioned some time today about his attempts to persuade producers to drive Communists out of the film industry.

The committee took no formal notice of the new arrivals—hastily organized into the Committee for the First Amendment and said no special arrangements had been made to accommodate them.

"They will be treated just like any other spectators," a committee spokesman said. "They will have to stand in line along with the others and the same rules of decorum that apply to all spectators will be enforced."

STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK

Hint Foreign Aid in Flight of Mikolajczyk

WARSAW, Oct. 27 (AP)—A Polish government spokesman said today at investigation was under way to determine how Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, leader of the opposition Polish Peasant Party, had fled the country.

Mikolajczyk's whereabouts remained a mystery.

The inquiry, the informant continued, is being directed to learn whether there was negligence on the part of Polish frontier guards or security agencies which enabled Mikolajczyk, his secretary and three aides and their wives to slip out of the country.

Asked whether Mikolajczyk was aided in his flight by any foreign power, the spokesman said there was "circumstantial evidence" to that effect.

Meanwhile, the British government promised in the House of Commons to give sanctuary to Mikolajczyk. Close associates of Mikolajczyk in London said they had received assurance that he was safely out of Poland.

Maine Fires Under Control, 15 Dead, Loss of 30 Million

The State of Maine listed its property loss at a conservative $30,000,000 today, its dead at least 15, its homeless at anywhere from 4000 to 6000 as high state officials reported all fires under control, many all out, but enough still burning to fear a second Bar Harbor hokaus anywhere in the area if the present gentle southwest winds increase in velocity.

The Maine department of forestry classed the day as a "class 5 day," meaning that the earth was dry five feet deep and the woodlands still tinder-dry.

Meanwhile, in line with President Truman's directive, fire-fighting equipment was being rushed to Augusta, Maine's capital, by plane and truck from federal supply depots east of the Mississippi. From Augusta, the equipment was allotted to Bangor, the Saco-Biddeford area, and other danger spots.

In Augusta, Gov. Hildreth prepared to confer this afternoon with officials of the Federal Works Agency, the War Assets Administration, the Army, the Navy and the Red Cross. They will plan relief measures for the homeless and destitute as well as co-ordination of effort in combating any new fires or rekindled old ones.

851 HOMES DESTROYED

The estimate of 15 dead was made by a Coast Guard detachment that set up headquarters in Biddeford, where it was operating 12 communication trucks and 9 auxiliary in place of telephone lines destroyed by the fires.

The Coast Guard report said at least 19 were injured, 851 permanent homes were destroyed, 297 cottages and 38 outbuildings were ruined and 78 other homes damaged. In the Biddeford area alone, 2215 persons had been sheltered and 15,000 fed.

The Coast Guard Cutters Laurel, Acushnet, White Heath and a Snohomish were still on duty at Mt. Desert Island. They had sent plasma ashore to the hospital on the island for the treatment of injured.

DROUTH IN 27TH DAY

At Bar Harbor, the destroyer Perry and the destroyer escort Powell were standing by with men and equipment. The light cruiser Little Rock and a seagoing tug are stationed at Portland.

The general New England drouth, meanwhile, was in its 27th record-smashing day and weather bureaus throughout the area reported little hope of rain for another three or four days. The most they could promise immediately was scattered showers in northern New England tomorrow, but hardly more than a trace of rain.

Meanwhile, men who had thought only of saving their own and neighbor's homes turned vengefully into the hunt for firebugs known to have touched off at least four fires in Maine and one in Massachusetts.

NEAR HYSTERIA

A wave of panic bordering on hysteria swept fatigued victims of the week-long fires in Maine.

In Alfred, Sheriff Everett S. Knight was forced to implore residents to "put away your guns before some innocent person gets hurt."

He said scores of armed men are roaming the streets, halting autos to question strangers and suspected arsonists. He termed it a "condition bordering on hysteria."

In Brunswick, Me., more than 100 volunteers joined State and local police in a search for occupants of a green coupe, seen by a local youth tossing lighted matches into the brush off a main road.

Firemen found a small fire near the high school building and quickly extinguished it.

In Denmark, Me., residents reported to police the license numbers of five autos bearing suspected incendiaries. State police in Augusta broadcast orders to pick up the occupants of five other cars for questioning after receiving information from local police throughout the State.

Troopers found a fire in slash timber in Palermo, Me., was definitely set, and Joseph A. P. Flynn, a State arson investigator, said he had conclusive proof that three other Maine fires were touched off.

No arrests have been made in any of the New England states as yet. In Falmouth, Police Chief Harold Baker said he has proof that a fire there was set and that an arrest can be expected within hours.

Throughout the fire blackened areas, rural residents were on guard today against the twin menaces of fire and arsonists in a style reminiscent of pioneers. Farmers plowed broad swathes of fields to protect their homes and buildings from onrushing flames, and brooms were lined up outside doors for use at the first sign of fire.

In Maine there are still five areas with potentially dangerous smoldering fires, including the Bar Harbor and Biddeford sections. Some eight communities

Torso Found After Fire in Winchendon

WINCHENDON, Oct. 27—A human torso, so badly burned it was impossible to determine whether the victim was a man or woman, was found today in the smoking ruins of an unoccupied summer cottage in Sibley rd.

State police investigating the discovery said the case was complicated by lack of evidence to show whether the victim had died of murder, suicide or accident.

In addition, they said, it was possible that one or more bodies might be found in the smoking debris or in the burned rubble of the basement.

The cottage was the property of Walter L. Webb, Royalston rd., North Winchendon, and had been frequently used by him to entertain friends outside the summer season.

Webb could not be found by investigators today. An auto, registered in his name, was found in the yard a short distance from the smoking ruins.

Checkup with his wife disclosed that he had driven her to a Winchendon theater last night, promising to return and pick her up at the end of the performance. She said, however, that he called to meet her and that she had taken a taxicab to her home after waiting some time for him.

Firemen rushed to the cottage shortly after midnight in response to an alarm.

The place was burning so fiercely when they arrived that they were unable to approach it and confined their efforts to preventing the spread of the blaze until the flames died down.

The fire destroyed the cottage and an adjoining barn.

Inspector Thomas Burke, of the State Fire Marshal's office, discovered the torso when he entered the ruins.

He reported the arms, legs and head were missing and that a tentative search of the debris failed to disclose any trace of them.

State Police guarded the place until a more thorough search of the ruins could be made for the missing parts as well as for possible other victims of the blaze.

Dr. James E. Waters of Gardner, medical examiner, viewed the body. He said the torso was so badly burned that it was impossible to determine the sex of the victim or make any identification. Pending further investigation, he expressed no opinion on the cause of death.

Friendship Train To Pick Up Food

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—A "Friendship Train" will make a west-to-east crossing of the country next month under sponsorship of the Citizens Food Committee to collect gifts of food for Europe.

The freight train will leave Los Angeles Nov. 7 and will reach New York city 11 days later after making stops to pick up loads of food at more than 40 cities. Chairman Charles Luckman of the food committee said yesterday the project is intended to dramatize this country's contribution to European relief.

Too young to know were Joyce Ann Reddick, 2, of Blue Hill ave. and Patricia, 1, but Joyce was old enough to be bewildered.

Their mother, 23-year-old Mrs. Winifred Reddick, became a "missing persons" case for the police department last Thursday. Their father, William, 35, a World War II veteran, took them to his wife's mother, Mrs. Margaret Smith of Robey st., Dorchester.

Yesterday, alone in his own home, Reddick wrote several notes, turned on the jets of the gas stove and ended his life. In one note he expressed regret he had not been able to take his wife out more but he worked a 10-hour day in a Wellesley store and spent three more hours traveling to and from it.

Grandmother Smith, sharing the double tragedy with the babies in her care, said today:

"My only hope and prayer now is that Winifred will come to her children. Whatever caused her disappearance, she is her trust. I cannot believe she will remain away from them if it is within her power to come back. I want to believe she will come."

The missing mother is five feet two, weighing 133 pounds, a brunette, who was wearing a two-piece green suit and black shoes when she vanished. She was carrying a black handbag.

Burma Freedom Pact Revealed

Hunt Missing Alaska Plane, 18 on Board

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 27 (AP)—A far-flung land, sea and air search for a missing Pan-American World Airways plane with 18 aboard was organized in southeastern Alaska today as a lashing wind and rainstorm in which the four-engined clipper vanished Sunday near Ketchikan continued to grip the area.

Rain-soaked clouds threatened to hamper plans to send dozens of planes aloft in hope of finding the big DC-4.

The weather bureau here said prospects were for continuing heavy gusts, with conditions gradually improving during the day.

The 44-passenger transport, which was carrying only 13 passengers, including one infant, and

44 Die in Plane Crash Near Athens

ATHENS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Greek Air Force said today a Swedish airlines transport, officially carrying 44 persons, including two Americans, crashed last night into Mt. Hymettos, southeast of Athens.

Airmen who flew over the wreckage said all aboard were believed killed.

The airline, ABA, announced in Stockholm 38 passengers and eight crewmen were aboard. The crew was headed by Capt. Kenneth John Douglas, a Briton.

The plane, flying from Istanbul to Rome, flashed its last message at 7:12 last night. A British Air Force officer who flew over the wreckage said the tail of the plane was precisely on the ridge of the mountain and the forward part of the transport had dropped from 50 to 100 feet below the ridge.

The Americans aboard were reportedly only as a Mr. Wanner and a Miss Rush; addresses not specified.

'Cruelest Creature I Ever Met,' Lake Calls Elsa Koch

By AUSTEN LAKE

Boston American Staff Correspondent

LANDSBERG, Occupied Germany—Today I completed a cycle of morbid curiosity with the cruelest creature I ever met. She is a woman and her name is Elsa Koch. Thirty-three months ago she was the wife of a Nazi commandant of the prison stalag of Buchenwald, into whose vicious compound I was the first American to enter after the Fourth Armored spearhead overran it on April 14, 1945.

This female fiend, who made lampshades and handbags from prisoners' tattooed skins, had skeedaddled with her SS guards a few hours before the 4th arrived. But I had seen samples of her grisly hobby and took her tinted portrait from her desk. Yes! This was the same woman who now sunned herself in the courtyard of the War Criminals Prison at Landsberg. The same tawny sweep of rust-colored hair. The same icy blue eyes which now swept me with the cold, unblinking scrutiny of a cat. She is a life prisoner and an expectant mother, the artifice by which she cheated the gallows.

It was the death exercise hour at Landsberg—"deathers" being the U. S. captain-commandant's expression (I may not mention his name) for his 210 convicts (one a woman, Dr. Erika Flocker) who wait to be hanged. There are 812 convicted war criminals in this prison, ranging from two years to life, and death.

LOLLED ON BLANKET

Elsa Koch lolled on a blanket in a corner of the court, near by Dr. Flocker and apart from several score of male "deathers," all clad in the blood-colored jackets which denote their fate. As I walked toward her with the captain and a prison interpreter, she propped on an elbow and studied me sharply. Yes! This was the woman of the picture.

The interpreter explained in German why I was there, then in English said, "No, she does not wish to talk to you." Such was her constitutional right! I asked, "May I do the talking then?" and the captain said, "Sure, go ahead." What I said to Elsa Koch is censored by Army rule, but it prompted her to forget her contemptuous silence and speak volubly in a husky contralto. Some time I'll be able to tell what she said.

The captain strolled over to Dr. Flocker, the female physician who once ruled the Lager Mittenheim, a prison wing of Dachau. She was sentenced for exterminating 4000 slave prisoners in lethal gas chambers, merely by designating her victims. She had ticked off the aged, ailing and feeble daily as they paraded past her—this one to the gas chamber, that one two days' grace, this a week, that to the gas chamber, etc.

Now as she sprawled on an army blanket, reading, she seemed a personable, shapely, intelligent woman, with alert eyes behind horn spectacles.

"Any complaint?" asked the captain.

She smiled mechanically. "No," she said in English, "none, except I want to get out of here. I don't like this place."

Perhaps she intended a macabre joke, since she realized she was under sentence of death. The captain shook his head, explaining as we turned away:

"She may go tomorrow, or next week or next month. Deathers get only 24 hours notice once the MG Reviewing Board at Frankfurt confirms the sentence." Then with grim humor, "I can't seem to keep ahead of this game. We hanged eight Friday and they sent us nine new deathers Saturday."

To him it was a business of income and outgo like any other. He was an affable man with broad features and concerned about his growing weight, pausing at the infirmity scales to measure his poundage and grunting, "Humm, 190. That's bad."

We walked to the wing where the condemned sit in solitary cells, each with a wooden door and a small open hutch, wherein Polish guards constantly peered on their deliberate rounds.

"Here's an interesting character," said the captain, indicating a door with a lettered name card, "Karl Schoepferle," whose grisly history is unfit for print.

I stooped to glance in and the House May Push New Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (INS)—Speaker Martin revealed today a new personal income tax reduction bill may be acted upon by the Republican-controlled Congress when the special session is convened Nov. 17.

Martin said the decision on whether to add tax-reduction to the agenda will be made by the 22-member House Republican steering committee, which will meet under his chairmanship shortly before Congress reconvenes.

Commuters however, were reminded that any 12-ride tickets purchased before today are good for 10 days, and 60-ride tickets will be honored for the month for which they were issued. Funeral Services Tomorrow Set for Bay State Hero Dead

With solemn religious ceremonial and full military pomp, Massachusetts cities and towns today prepared final funeral honors for 25 hero dead of World War II, the vanguard of the homebound Army of American soldiers who gave up their lives for the country.

Cut in District Courts Demanded

Reorganization of the district court system to eliminate 25 of the State's 72 district courts and all 10 of the trial justice courts, was called for today by the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Assns.

Norman MacDonald, executive director of the federation, said in a letter to Sen. Harris S. Richardson of Winchester, chairman of a special legislative commission on efficiency and economy, that there were too many courts and too many judges in Massachusetts, and that the federation's proposed reorganization would mean an estimated $500,000 a year savings to the State.

Half of War II Vets Ask Educational Benefits

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Veterans Administration said today nearly half of the 14,500,000 World War II veterans have applied for education or training benefits but less than one-third actually have started their courses.

Veterans have until July 25, 1951—or four years from their date of discharge, if that is later—to start their training.

Funeral services, most of them tomorrow, will conclude 24 hours of tribute by relatives, friends and civic leaders, which began when the funeral trains pulled into Boston, Worcester and Framingham, with the dead of 15 mourning Massachusetts communities.

The South Station was thronged by thousands eager to pay tribute to the country's defenders, among them members of the heroes' families, some tearful, some grim and others resigned because of the long lapse between death and arrival, their tears long since shed.

SOLEMN RECEPTION

They passed, these flag-draped heroes, between ranks of Army, Navy, Marine and veterans' delegations, drawn up at attention, and their solemn procession was followed by massed colors from train to concourse to reception room, where the bodies were turned over to undertakers.

Honor was paid each by heads of his city or town and by the thousands of spectators gathered in the terminal, standing at attention or with heads uncovered while the casket-laden trucks passed, drawn by uniformed Legionnaires, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Legion of Valor men, wearers of the Purple Heart, and Jewish and Italian War Veterans.

As the procession proceeded slowly on its course, the Boston

Firemen's Band played the moving "In Memoriam."

In a few instances, members of a sad-faced family, apprised as to which casket contained the body of their loved one, sprang forward to place hands on the flag-covered box and accompany it that way into the receiving room.

Undertakers were waiting there with their hearses outside the baggage platform doors and as the bodies were being placed in the hearses, buglers stationed at various parts of the South Station blew the mournful "Taps" in echelon, the sound of one bugle barely dying away before it was picked up by another at a distant point.

HOMAGE AT STATION

More than a thousand persons were gathered outside to watch this loading of the hearses, the crowd filling Atlantic ave. from the terminal's baggage doors to the Hotel Essex across the way. Practically all normal activities in the South Station were halted as homage was paid the returned heroes, and in the morning there had been a similar picture, except it was on a smaller scale, when the two bodies reached Boston from Schenectady.

They were the bodies of Coxswain Kenneth G. Snow, first enlistee from Revere after Pearl Harbor, and of Marine PFC Samuel R. Parsons of 28 Bettino ave., Everett.

GUARDS OF HONOR

Col. Wm. Keville, Mayor Hynes of Boston and mayors and selectmen from communities represented by the other 15 servicemen arriving shortly after noon, joined in the more elaborate exercises. Joining with them, the military and veterans' organizations, were honor guards of Boston police and firemen, together with heads of municipal departments.

Special memorial services were held in the station after arrival of the 6:15 train from the West. The Revere delegation was headed by Mayor Raymond E. Carey and Com. Patrick Fitzgerald, and Chaplain Victor Mendoza of the Revere Veterans' Council.

Last night the bodies of most of the two dead were lying in state in home town undertaking rooms or in veterans' posts.

Hub Youth Seized In Flatiron Attack On Bridal Couple

A 23-year old Boston youth was under arrest in Miami, Fla., today, charged with the flatiron slugging of a 26-year-old Miami bride of six weeks and her husband, both of whom are in critical condition in a Miami hospital.

Steward Held In Ship Killing Of Actress

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Oct. 27 (AP)—James Camb, 30-year-old Scots deck steward, was charged in magistrate's court today with the murder of youthful Eileen "Gay" Gibson, red-haired British actress who vanished from her ship cabin in her night dress after attending a gay ship dance.

Camb sat dejected and silent during the four-minute arraignment, after which he was ordered held without bail until Monday. Meanwhile, British detectives searched African beaches near the equator in an effort to find Miss Gibson's body.

She vanished from the vessel, the Durban Castle, early Oct. 18, just after the ship has crossed the equator off the West African coast.

The only witness against Camb today was Detective John Quinlan, who boarded the ship before it docked, questioned Camb and then took him to Southampton police headquarters.

Miss Gibson, 21-year-old actress who played the female lead in a South African production of Clifford Odets play "Golden Boy," was returning alone from Capetown.

After she disappeared, ships officers found the porthole of her cabin open, small bloodstains on her rumpled pillow and her night dress and dressing gown missing.

VOLCANIC BENEFIT

TOKYO, Oct. 27 (AP)—It's an ill volcano that erupts no good. Mt. Aso spewed volcanic ash for miles over farms and fields of Kyushu during the summer. It may prove a boon for milady in Japan.

Today a Dr. Fujita reported the ash contains a high percentage of chitin—an ingredient in making women's face powder.

Acting Detective Superintendent Charles V. Pierce, of Miami identified the accused youth as John J. Jurkowski of Stevens st., South End, and said he was being held on charges of felonious assault and breaking and entering in connection with the attack.

The bride, Mrs. Shirley Berger and her husband, Albert, were asleep in their apartment when the flatiron beating was administered.

CLAIMS MISTAKE

Supt. Pierce said Jurkowski told him he entered the Berger apartment by mistake and thought he was beating Phyllis Jane Swartz, a 23-year-old waitress of Detroit, who had left a cafe after Jurkowski had handed her his wallet containing $80 to hold for him.

Pierce said Jurkowski followed Miss Swartz to her apartment in the same building as the Berbers, claiming he saw her with another man.

Mrs. Berger's skull was crushed by the blows and Berger, rushing to aid his bride, was also struck down by the intruder.

The attack aroused Edward Horowitz, Berger's brother-in-law, who chased the flatiron wielder. When he caught up with him, two blacks away, a gangly crowd attracted by the melee had kicked Jurkowski unconscious. Arrival of police saved him from further beating.

SWARTZ GIRL HELD

Police said Jurkowski told them he arrived in Miami several weeks ago and met the Swartz girl soon after. She is being held as a material witness.

Latest reports from Miami said Mrs. Berger was near death following a delicate brain operation.

SIKHS FLOWN TO END RIOT

NEW DELHI, Oct. 27 (AP)—An official source said today a battalion of Sikhs were being flown to Srinagar—capital of embattled Kashmir—to help forces of the princely state repel some 2000 Pathans who have crossed the border from Pakistan and indulged in an orgy of looting, rape and killing.

SEEKS CURE AT FRENCH SHRINE—Louis Conterera, of Bridgeport, Ct., carries his three-year-old son, Louis Jr., aboard an overseas airliner at LaGuardia Field, New York, while his wife, Phyllis follows. The child, a victim of infantile paralysis, is being rushed to the Shrine of Our Lady at Lourdes, France, in hope of a cure. Bridgeport citizens raised funds for the trip. Doctors have told the family that the boy will die soon.

Jeanne Stuart to Be Carnarvon's Bride in January

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27—The Earl of Carnarvon comes to Hollywood in early January to wed Jeanne Stuart, English actress and beauty.

Miss Stuart, who is now appearing with Errol Flynn in "Don Juan," was named by Tilly Losch, the well-known dancer and artist, in her divorce suit against the Earl which was filed in England last July.

Carnarvon, who is 48 and has had a spectacular life, gets his absolute divorce, as it's called in England, November 30.

Originally he sued Miss Losch, but when she contested the suit it was thrown out of court and she was given the right to obtain the divorce herself. Carnarvon claimed Tilly deserted him and came to America to live during the war.

Carnarvon, whose father was a famous archaeologist and discovered King Tut's tomb, was left $20,000,000 by his father. He is the sixth earl.

Bids to Elizabeth's Wedding Sent to 2000 of Super-Elite

LONDON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Britain's royal family, after much pruning of lists and worrying over many necessary exclusions, has finally made up its mind about Princess Elizabeth's wedding guests and dispatched the coveted invitations to some 2000 of the elect.

For months the royal household has been combing through columns of eligibles, knowing that three or four times the number of persons that can be fitted into Westminster Abbey hoped to make the grade and that widespread disappointment was inevitable.

The bids went out piecemeal, under a news blackout imposed by the Lord Chamberlain's department, which is in charge of this touchy side of the wedding preliminaries.

Until today even the style of the invitations was an official secret, but now it can be told that the invitation is a copperplate engraved card measuring five by six inches, with the royal arms at the top and this text following:

"The Lord Chamberlain is commanded by Their Majesties to invite (two lines open for the name of the lucky person) to the ceremony of the marriage of Her Royal Highness, the Princess Elizabeth, C.I. (These initials denoting the Imperial Order of the Crown of India, which she was recently awarded) with Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten, Royal Navy, at Westminster Abbey, on Thursday, 20th November, 1947, at 11:30 o'clock, A. M.

"Dress — Civilians, morning dress (or lounge suits).
"Serving Officers — Service dress.

"Ladies—morning dress with hats."

In the right hand corner appear these words:

"An answer is requested address to the Lord Chamberlain, St. James' Palace, S. W. 1."

"No fear of any turn-downs," commented a Buckingham palace official, thankful for a facetious moment in the flurry of serious business.

There won't be a chance of any-one horning in on the ceremony. Black marketers have been eager to pay small fortunes for a few of the cards, or even one of them, but they have found the invitations beyond their grasp and impossible to counterfeit successfully. Picked men of Scotland Yard will double check every invitation at the Abbey gates.

Schoolboy Tour Features Navy Day Program

Schoolboys from several Greater Boston communities toured the Navy yard in Charlestown and the naval drydocks in South Boston today as impressive Navy Day exercises concluded a week-long program honoring the nation's seagoing forces.

The schoolboys were shown the aircraft carriers Salerno Bay and Palau, other smaller warships and the historic fighting ship, Old Ironsides. Of special interest was an exhibition of diving in a specially constructed tank.

A highlight of the day was the presentation of the battle flag of the aircraft carrier Bunker Hill to the Bunker Hill Association in ceremonies at the monument in Charlestown.

PROGRAMS TONIGHT

The Boston Council of the Navy League is sponsoring a Navy Day dinner at the Copley Plaza, and the Navy Post of the Legion will hold its 15th annual dinner tonight at Mechanics Building.

Decks of the beloved frigate Constitution were the scene of two memorial services. Navy Post 297,

A. L., conducted one program under the direction of Albert Morrissey, post chairman. Later, the Society of the War of 1812 held its exercises.

More than 25,000. It was estimated, visited the Navy installations at Charlestown, South Boston, Squantum and Weymouth during a day highlighted by memorial services for the Navy men who died during World War II.

FLOWER MEMORIAL

The destroyer Purvis took a party including 150 Gold Star mothers on a two-hour cruise beyond sight of land for the annual flower memorial.

Over the waters of Massachusetts Bay was scattered a solid bank of flowers to which each have been wiped out and 27 more feared by the flames. But Yankee courage—and humor—persisted among the victims. In a harbor, Me., Russell E. Davis, a blind woodworker whose home was destroyed, observed: "We'll throw a roof over the shelter and go right to work again."

Gold Star mother contributed one flower for each member of her family lost in the recent war.

The task of reconstruction was launched in Maine by Gov. Horace Hildreth, who promised that the homeless would receive at least temporary homes in advance of approaching winter, and that their rehabilitation would extend even to providing means for those unable to finance rebuilding or retraining of homes.

Basel O'Connor, national chairman of the Red Cross, said Maine could expect almost limitless help. "Our appropriation there is for a half-million dollars, but it doesn't mean a thing. We're going to do our job."

ply to others will apply to them."

As newsmen, actors and actresses crowded into window seats and sat on the floor in the Statler Hotel room where the news conference was held, Huston declared, "There are no Communists in this group."

Asked what he meant by that, Huston said the movie, "The Best Years of Our Lives," would not be produced in Hollywood today because some committee members have indicated they do not consider it an accurate presentation of life in America.

Huston also said the group does not agree with testimony given last week by director Sam Wood, actors Robert Taylor, Robert Montgomery, and others that there are Communists active in Hollywood.

"All the evidence, as we have read it," interposed Bogart, "has been supposition and hearsay, with no attempt by the committee to prove its truth."

That, added Bogart, is what the group objects to.

1000 at Rites For Ex-Gangster

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Oct. 27 (AP)—All the customary splendor of underworld pomp marked the funeral services yesterday for Carl Shelton, 59-year-old former Southern Illinois gang leader who was slain from ambush Thursday. More than 1000 persons crowded the First Methodist Church here for the rites which long-time residents described as the largest funeral the community has ever seen.

Hundreds of floral pieces, many costing as much as $100 each, were banked along the front of the church almost obscuring the one-time gangster's $2500 bronze casket from the view. One of the two florists in this town of 4000 said it was impossible to fill all the flower orders by merchants, friends of the family and Shelton's former pals.

Box of Candy Waits Radio Girl In Air Rescue

Little the worse for his experience, a Harvard student was back in Cambridge today shopping for a box of candy to present to the girl whose voice brought about his prompt rescue after he was forced down in Long Island Sound in a Seabee amphibian plane.

The girl, who was on duty in the Bridgeport, Ct., air traffic control tower, was still unimpaired that the candy and sentiment is coming her way. She is Miss Lillian H. Napoli of Stafford.

"I can't say enough for that girl," Arthur Houghton Tully, research fellow at Harvard's graduate school of business administration, declared on his return home to Cambridge. He said she quickly answered his radio call for assistance and summoned all possible help.

Tully said his engine failed from an undetermined cause as he was returning to Massachusetts from Rehoboth Beach, Del., where he had been attending a reunion of Civil Air Patrol fliers who operated an anti-submarine watch in 1942 and 1943. He came down four miles off Milford, Ct.

"I talked with the girl at Bridgeport for an hour after I landed," Tully said. "She alerted all services, Coast Guard, Air Sea Rescue, everything. They even sent a PBY (Coast Guard rescue plane) out from Floyd Bennett Field."

SLAYER, 21, ELECTROCUTED
BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—Lawrence Brown, 21-year-old Philadelphia Negro, died in the electric chair today for the slaying of a crippled shoeshine stand owner in an argument over a dice game. Brown entered the death chamber at 12:31 a. m. and was dead three minutes later.

THE FUR OUTLET

WE'RE CLOSING OUR DOORS FOREVER

For years this store has consistently offered New Englanders outstanding values in finer fur fashions. We have thousands of satisfied customers from Eastport, Maine, to Cape Cod. Our attempts to negotiate a long term lease failed. Now, after many successful years, we are being forced out of business. We offer you this huge stock at sacrifice prices—in many cases below today's actual manufacturing and wholesale costs. It would be impossible to list every coat in this vast collection, BUT YOUR COAT IS HERE!

New History Competition Launched

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Students of a thousand high schools aimed their hopes at national honors and a $2000 jackpot today as the annual Hearst Newspapers American History Competition opened its fifth season.

Once again a grand total of $25,000 in awards has been posted to encourage greater history study among the "teen set."

Gov. Dewey cited the Hearst classic for promoting better citizenship and fostering patriotism and its Americanism objectives were hailed by educators, governors, government officials and religious leaders the nation over.

The competition will get under way in mid-November with preliminary tests in New York city and in twelve other key centers.

On Dec. 10 the contestants who stand highest in the preliminary will engage in a national competitive examination.

$2000 TO WINNER

The history champion will receive a $2000 U. S. Savings Bond—the equivalent of a four-year college scholarship.

Other national awards are: Second, $1000 bond; third, $500 bond; fourth, $250 bond; and 50 additional prizes for an overall sum of $5850. Nearly $20,000 will be distributed to participants in the local tests.

Besides New York, other competing cities are Boston, Albany, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, San Antonio, Los Angeles, Oakland, San Francisco, and Seattle.

The examinations are under preparation by school authorities in each area. They will measure the "teen agers' knowledge of U. S. history beginning with the early settlements at Jamestown and Plymouth Rock.

EDUCATION DIRECT

Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of New York City public schools, is chairman of the awards supervisory committee.

Serving with him are Rev. John J. Voight, head of Catholic schools in the New York archdiocese; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph V. S. McClancy, and Dr. John J. Wade, retired superintendent of public schools.

All regularly-enrolled students of public and parochial high schools are eligible for the $3850 in national awards as well as additional prizes to be issued to Boston winners by the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser.

Pupils should address inquiries to those newspapers or to the chairman of the history department of their school.

Finding This Girl Should Be Easy

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Gordon Stewart Phillips, a young British sailor, wants Chicago police to help him locate his girl friend.

Lt. John Walsh of the Missing Persons Bureau disclosed he received a letter from Phillips relating that his "girl" Beryl Dolores Odum, 18, formerly of Liverpool, had left for the U. S. with her family. The sailor said he thinks the girl now lives on the outskirts of Chicago.

Asserting police would have no difficulty in finding her, Phillips' letter gave this description:

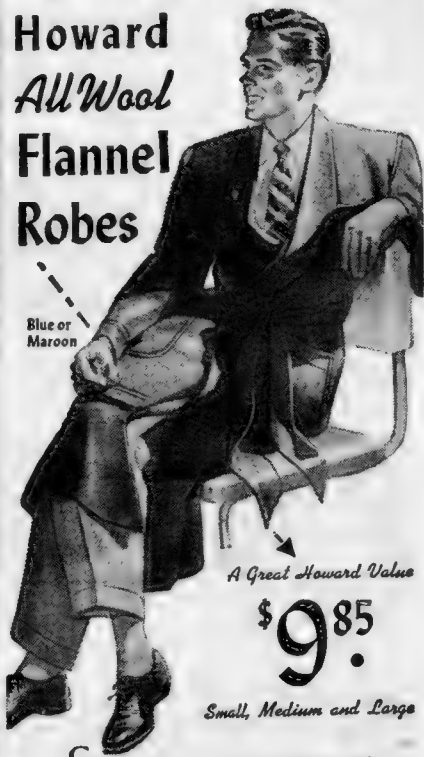

"Her hair is like golden velvet. Her eyes are like stars.

She has a pale complexion. I can't give you any more information except to say she is very, very lovely."

24 Refugees Reach U. S. in Small Boat

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Oct. 27 (AP)—The 54-foot auxiliary schooner Svea pulled into port at Palm Beach, ending a 5000-mile journey for 24 European refugees.

The party, led by Capt. Peteris Lics, 35, included eight Estonians and 16 Latvians. There were 13 men, five women and six children in the party.

They said they fled their homelands months ago, went to Sweden. They could not land in Spain, but were permitted to take on food and water. They reached Florida by way of the Azores.

Immigration authorities would not permit the refugees to go ashore, but hearings will be held.

"Sweden is so small and so close to Russia," said a spokesman for the group. "Russian agents are everywhere. It was not safe for us to stay there."

DeGaulle Asks Election of New Assembly

By JOHN LEE

PARIS, Oct. 27 (INS)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle called today for immediate dissolution of the French National Assembly and the holding of general elections which in all probability would bring him back to power.

He warned action is imperative at once to avoid the "risks of falling into anarchy—habitual pretexts to invasion," and said the nation must be made strong enough so that if necessary it could defend itself.

He also promised his new anti-Communist Rally of the French People (RPF) would organize and expand to "assure safety of the nation, come what may."

A De Gaulle spokesman explained De Gaulle wants the present Assembly to revise the constitution so that immediate dissolution can be voted instead of waiting until next May as prescribed by law. Two-thirds of the deputies would have to agree to the revision.

The former provisional president, whose party received 39 per cent of the vote in the municipal elections a week ago, finally revealed plans for his political future in a written statement on the election returns.

DeGaulle's statement was issued as the Communists were losing about 50 per cent of the municipal council in run-off elections in the smaller municipalities.

Baldness OR HAIR? YOU MUST DECIDE

WILLIAM A. STEPHENS (pictured above) decided he did not want to be bald. He was told by others that it was "impossible" to re-grow hair. Then he consulted a Thomas expert who determined the exact cause of Mr. Stephens' hair loss (alopecia areata). Soon the reliable 25-year proved Thomas methods overcame this cause, and stimulated normal hair-growth for Mr. Stephens.

Thomas helps 1600 persons each day to overcome local scalp troubles. Thomas can help you, too, to end dandruff, stop abnormal hairfall, or promote normal hair growth. Come in today and discuss your problem with a Thomas expert—in private, without charge or obligation.

Lincoln became the leading town in the metropolitan area with a special one-day drive putting the town at 86 per cent of the quota, it was announced.

The Lincoln showing followed an extensive poster and circular build-up with school children and Boy Scouts taking part. Grow-ups co-operated. Town Chairman Robert P. Coudit said, by staying home until Community Fund workers called.

Condit announced that John Wiley, an eighth grade student, was chosen winner of the school poster contest. Young Wiley will sit at the head table of the first report luncheon of the Greater Boston Community Fund, Thursday.

Mr. I. K. Wilmington, Del.
Advice every one suffering from pains of Rheumatism—Arthritis—Gout—to try RUMAL

He says, "God Bless You for RUMAL"

Mr. I. K. of Wilmington, Delaware, writes: "For years I have suffered with agonizing pains of Rheumatism. Nothing seemed to help much. Then a friend of mine suggested that I try a preparation called RUMAL. I was skeptical but I had nothing to lose so I sent for a jar. I tried it and am happy to say that I got relief from the very first application. It's a godsend to have RUMAL in the house for when those awful pains strike, I'm prepared."

I don't care how long you have been suffering the agonies of rheumatic, arthritic, sciatic, neuralgic pains—I want you to try a remedy that is really good.

It must be good, for it has been bringing blessed palliative relief to thousands of sufferers since 1918—over 26 years.

And the best part is that you don't risk one penny in trying RUMAL—you can't lose—only gain by doing it.

RUMAL is a compound of 5 powerful ingredients widely known to the medical profession as fast pain relievers.

You apply RUMAL as directed to the painful area. Soon you feel a glowing, soothing warmth as the pains disappear fast.

Judge Gillen's Mother Is Laid to Rest

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth J. Gillen, widowed mother of Municipal Court Judge Daniel J. Gillen, were held from her home in Center st., Jamaica Plain, today, with a solemn high mass in St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Jamaica Plain. Burial was in Old Calvary Cemetery.

Dancer Praised For Fire Heroism

Neighbors today praised a Boston night club dancer whose courage and quick thinking enabled them to flee safely from fire in their four-story dwelling in Perkins st., Somerville.

The dancer, Miss Edith Lane, 29, was burned about the face and hands as she beat on the doors of fellow occupants to give the alarm. Among those who escaped unhurt were: Mr. and Mrs. James Giorgio and their son, Michael, three weeks; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson and their children, Claire, 9, and Robert, 7, and Miss Joan Curtin.

Miss Lane said she had returned home to find a studio couch in the first floor hallway afire. Failing in her effort to push it out the door, she awakened the sleeping families, then ran to a nearby firebox to sound the alarm.

She was taken to Somerville City Hospital and treated for first degree burns. Damage was estimated at $1000.

Gold Star Mothers fight back tears as they stand in South Station awaiting arrival of 17 Greater Boston hero dead. The muffled roll of drums and sight of flag-draped caskets being removed from the train that brought the bodies here from Schenectady, N. Y., proved too much for their emotions. Some of the mothers were at the station to claim the bodies of their hero sons.

MAN THE FLEET!

THIS IS a day of special significance to all Americans. It is Navy Day—an occasion set aside to honor the valor and acknowledge and review the accomplishments of the United States fleet.

Never in the history of the world has sea-borne fighting force established and maintained a tradition to match in glory that of the AMERICAN NAVY.

"The galleons of old, the Armada of Spain, and even the mighty force by which Britannia, as she used to boast, ruled the waves weren't in it compared with the United States Navy.

Our Navy reached the peak of its massed MIGHT during the last World War.

But it set the tone of its QUALITY, as opposed to QUANTITY of armor and firepower, back in the days of John Paul Jones and it has never faltered since.

For this, let all American people give fervent thanks.

THE NAVY'S TRADITION of great ships is a proud one, starred with such names as the "Bon Homme Richard," the "Constitution," the "Enterprise," and many others.

The "Bon Homme Richard" would be a flimsy piece of flotsam in today's fleet.

Times have changed, and with them naval armor, gunnery, tactics and techniques.

That does not diminish the greatness of the tradition, nor the greatness of the early ships, because what made the tradition was not, actually, the ships, but the MEN.

Without the men, the ships are empty hulls. And our ships have been too often without the men.

It is to the Navy's credit, but to the people's shame, that our fleet has had to fight the INDIFFERENCE and NEGLECT of the nation it served, almost as often as it has had to engage the task forces of the enemy.

The heroic Jones himself had to wheedle and plead and argue for support.

After the first World War, with the stark lessons of UNPREPAREDNESS all about us, we actually set about SINKING THE FLEET in accord with pacts in which other powers reciprocated by handsomely tearing up blueprints.

The Navy was shunted into the background, and the number of Americans who strove to maintain its traditions and improve its techniques of warfare was pitifully small.

Pearl Harbor, the most fearful blow ever dealt our Navy, woke us up.

The blow would have knocked out a lesser fleet for keeps.

But once again, the men of the United States Navy, carrying on the tradition of the Navy, fought back to overcome the odds.

Tradition, though, didn't save the American lives LOST AT PEARL HARBOR AND THEREAFTER BECAUSE WE WERE NOT READY.

The glory of the PAST is not sufficient armor for the PRESENT.

UNLESS WE MAN the fleet with TRAINED personnel, we will be in effect torpedoing our own Navy with NEGLECT again as we have in the past.

Modern warfare is amazingly complex. It calls for the utmost in technical know-how.

If we do not adopt a system of UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING with which to give a SUFFICIENT NUMBER of our MEN the skills to operate the MACHINES, we might just as well have a flotilla of butter tubs for a fleet, and box kites for an air arm.

Another, and worst, "Pearl Harbor" might be TOO MUCH even for our valiant Navy. There is a limit to human accomplishment, after all.

Let this Navy Day not only remind us of what our fleet has done, but of what WE MUST DO to maintain and secure not only the traditions of the Navy but the very freedom and integrity of our nation.

Let us, through a Universal Military Training program, insure that we AT ALL TIMES will have MEN TO MAN THE SHIPS!

Women are the baggage of life: They are troublesome, And hinder us in the great march, And yet we cannot be without them.

JOHN SUCKLING.

IN THE MATTER of matrimony the woman pursues the man rather than vice versa. She is impelled to do so by her creative instinct which irresistibly inspires her to seek a father for her children. After she has captured the man and he has fulfilled the purpose for his capture, the woman has no further particular interest in him other than that he provide for her offspring and herself in a manner to which she thinks they should become accustomed. In this she has something in common with the queen bee who considers the male's only excuse for existence is his being necessary in the production of more bees.

Man loves his liberty, but even when he realizes he is pursued and battles against submission his struggles are in vain. The force of his natural instincts is too much for him to successfully resist. That is the theme of G. B. Shaw's 42-year-old play, "Man and Superman," a superb production of which I viewed last night, directed and starred in by the brilliant Maurice Evans. He is supported by an extremely adept cast of which the beautiful and versatile British blonde, Frances Rowe, was the leading member.

G. B. Shaw

HORSES & WOMEN: To the experienced Horses & Women expert the theme of the Shavian dramatic essay aforementioned will seem elementary. Still on closer observation of the playwright's scintillating discourse he will note the old boy has made a number of other observations as to the female sex which are most worthy of the attention of discerning and conscientious students of the subject. I strongly recommend "Man and Superman" to our bachelor clients. While perhaps it will not help our male single subscribers to escape their female pursuers it will at least make them view their capture more philosophically.

SUPERB PRODUCTION: As previously indicated Mr. Evans and associates have given the Shavian antique a superb production. Among the things that especially pleased me was the fact the play has three different scenes. I am growing weary of these one-set productions. An added attraction for the feminine customers is the costuming. This indicated even when women had to wear long skirts that trailed the ground they could pack considerable appeal and use the same expertly to bring the most reluctant male to the point of submitting to matrimony. The ladies present last evening seemed to have had a wonderful time. When the poor, struggling male wretch was finally captured the heroine in the play smiled triumphantly and the females in the audience strongly mirrored her feelings. The gentlemen present looked at each other as much to say, resignedly, "You can't win, brother, you can't win."

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—Who would you say was the greatest of comic strip artists? A—I am an enthusiastic comic strip fan but no great judge of the art. I can only name my favorites over the years: Tad Dorgan, Herriman, Swinnerton, George MacManus and Jimmy Hatlo. Q—What is the oldest dog in the country? I mean one whose age is substantiated by the records? A—Couldn't say for sure. But I understand Carlin Jervais, of New Orleans, has a poodle named "Teddy" who is 29½ years old according to reliable records.

DOUGHNUT ARGUMENT: Rockport, Me., has been celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the origin of the hole in the doughnut. Capt. Hanson Gregory, who suggested this innovation, which real doughnut lovers consider of questionable value, is to be honored with a plaque in his memory. In any event this all proves, as I have steadfastly claimed and wagered stogies on that claim, that the original doughnut did not have a hole in it.

This is the five star final on the doughnut argument. Losers will please forward stogies carefully wrapped. Pittsburgh or Wheeling stogies acceptable.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—The excuse offered by several eminent, inveterate pollutionists of the Hollywood-White House-Kremlin axis, that they didn't know they were hosts to Communism in the United States, is a fair example of the contempt of this rogue industry for the intelligence of the American people.

On the basis of a long and profitable experience, during which the movies have mocked the decencies and inhibitions of the American natives and sneered at every political ideal, this attitude is justified.

These men sell phantoms originally intended for the innocent amusement of the people.

Their is a mechanical elaboration of the hand-shadows on a sheet by which the fathers of the American generation next before entertained the children until nine o'clock curfew.

IT IS UNTHINKABLE that any such household magician ever projected any moral or political corruption, but the same cannot be said of Hollywood.

In this way, the movie industry became a commercial and political giant, won entrance to our Presidential palace and even put Roosevelt under obligations by loans and other favors to his family.

Statesmen consulted the political whims of gross vulgarities, including miming Castle Garden greenhorns of 50 years before.

Tendril daughters of the common man strewed themselves in their way and the government of the proud United States besought such people to make movies which would help to save the nation from the Nazi, as though the Americans had been reduced to this to save their lives.

"THE PROPOSITION here was that even though Russia was Germany's natural enemy, nevertheless Russia might quit the war and join Hitler against us if our country did not constantly court Stalin's whimsical favor.

Therefore the political movies must flatter Russia, extol Communism, and deceive the great American boob.

Many of the great men of the moving picture industry were born in old Russia under the last Czar and, without embracing Communism, nevertheless acknowledged Stalin as a savior who had helped to slay an ancient oppressor.

NOT MUCH of the information elicited in the current hearing by the Thomas Committee on Un-American Activities is actually new. The same characters, identified last week as Communists in Hollywood devoted to the conquest of the United States by Moscow, had been named in the records many times before.

Most of them are natives of the United States, but some are interlopers who have trouble with our language.

Of the natives, about one in four goes under an assumed name adopted at the public hearings last week and need to be picked up.

One magnate, in a glow of that political emotion called "democracy" or "liberalism," both counterfeits, said he abhorred Communists and would fire them if he could but did not dare can a man on a mere suspicion of Bolshevism.

Not only would this invite a libel suit, an expensive business, win or lose, but it is almost impossible to get rid of an offensive employee under our labor laws and union rules.

A few nights later, finding myself in the wise company of a lady only a few years past renown in the Hollywood make-believe, I was disillusioned to hear her say that a movie magnate hadn't had much trouble firing her and several others whom I recall as equally toothsome. "The language they use is blunt," said she. "They just say to a girl 'or else.' Couldn't they think of something just as clever to say to get rid of a Communist?"

THE PRODUCERS can clean house whenever they decide to. All they need do is draw the list of Communists, initial it and pass it around and never pay one of them another dollar.

They will scream that this would be a conspiracy and that they could be sued, prosecuted and punished, but that is all a fraud.

They have done the same thing in the past to hundreds of men and women but for other reasons, including the deadliest political reason of them all in the beautiful and horrid, hilarious and hateful world of our commercial entertainment. I refer to the sin of Fascism.

Many a forthright American has been damned to the bleak Siberias of oblivion on the mere malicious report of some Communist that the accused had called some vermin a name too well deserved.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

My Boston

By Alan Fraser

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27 (INS)—"Call Me Mister" has been bought by Darryl Zanuck for a sum said to be over $200,000. But let me make myself clear—the pink tinge so many people thought was indicated in this Broadway hit musical will be completely absent in the movie.

To offset any idea of the Communist suggestion, Darryl Zanuck plans to use only ex-service men in the cast. Looking about the lot, I say 20th will have no trouble in finding a cast. There are Tyrone Power, Richard Greene, Victor Mature, Lon McCallister—well, just go down the contract list.

I thought MGM had bought "Call Me Mister," but apparently Zanuck snagged it before any other deal was made. There were offers from other studios.

IF CLARK GABLE isn't the star of "Command Decision" when it reaches the screen, I'll eat my new blue hat with the green feather.

I've just found out there is a unique motion picture deal involved in William Wyler Haines' Broadway hit. Originally written as a novel, "Command Decision" was bought by MGM for $100,000 with the understanding that if it was produced as a play and turned out to be a success, the picture would be made with Clark Gable.

Well, all those things came true. I've never read more glowing reviews, particularly about Paul Kelly originating the role Gable inherits.

GEORGE CUKOR has had the worst, and the best, of luck in the past year.

Everything was all to the lead when he was directing "Desire Me," the Greer Garson movie—so bad that this film has no director credit. But to offset this, he went to Universal-International to direct Ronald Colman in "A Double Life" and this is the studio's candidate for academy award consideration, both for Ronnie's performance and George's direction.

Now I am extremely interested to hear that Cukor and Colman will team for an independent film, probably to be released by U-I. George has the story selected but he won't tell what it is.

Of course, he still has one more to finish on his MGM contract, and there's that International deal starring Greta Garbo in "Madame Sand" coming up. Busy, isn't he?

DON'T FALL for the whisper that things are cooling between Lana Turner and Ty Power. Lana was walking on a pink cloud after Ty called her from Rome just before she left for New York. The call came through on the set, and Lana jumped on the back of a truck to get to her dressing room in a hurry to talk with Ty privately for 30 minutes.

He arrives in Canada Nov. 10 and Lana will be in the East at that time, so you can bet they'll meet before a reunion in Hollywood.

Meanwhile, Lana hits Washington, New Haven and Kansas City appearing with "Green Dolphin Street," so her trip east means work as well as romance.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Joan Crawford and Greg Bautzer met accidentally at luncheon and there was a big reconciliation. That night they went to Slapsy Maxie's and Ciro's, and at this writing everything is rosy.

But Joan is very reticent about making up because she feels there have been too many break-ups. However, I wouldn't be one bit surprised if one of these days Greg and Joan get married, and I'm a very good friend of both of them and am risking their friendship even to hint at such a thing.

June Haver tells me she has been on the Warner lot rehearsing for the Marilyn Miller scenes and she will continue to rehearse even though she makes "Sweet Sue" before she starts the life of Marilyn Miller. She says it is possible that Jean Nelson, who was with her in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," will play the role of Frank Carter, Marilyn's husband, who was killed so tragically.

She also said that Jimmy Zito had not signed a deposition in her divorce case. She says she hopes she won't have to bring too many unpleasant things into the case.

The so-widely publicized hate the Grace Hayes and Barbara Bonnet had at Charley Foy's night club, has an interesting follow-up. Seems John Lee Mahon, Patsy Ruth Miller's ex, is really Barbara's boy friend, and she went to the Foy night club not because she was crazy about Charley as Grace believed, but to tell Charley her troubles. She had had a fight with Mahon.

Well, Mahon and Barbara went out together last night with Barbara's face carefully made up to disguise the black eyes and scratches which Grace gave her when she swung a right at her supposed rival.

The tragic death of John Guenther, editor of Look Magazine, in an airplane accident has saddened many people in Hollywood. Guenther, a charming young man, made a very favorable impression on everyone who met him.

He had cocktails at my house just a few days before he took off for New York. He was dining with his mother, who lives in San Fernando Valley, and he talked about his two children and of his eagerness to get back to his wife and youngsters. I don't know when I have been so shocked. Sympathy goes to his family.

A SHAME that Darryl Zanuck can't go to New York for the premiere of "Gentleman's Agreement" on Armistice Day. He and Virginia had both looked forward to it.

The reason is that there is an old lawsuit pending against 20th Century-Fox, which isn't a personal matter at all, but if Darryl runs into a subpoena he might be kept in the east for months, which he cannot afford to do now with so many pictures ready to start.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Alexis Smith and her husband will be guests of the Countess of Warwick when they go to England on the command performance. The countess, who is in Hollywood, is visiting her husband, Douglas, who happens to be Alexis' leading man.

Sir Charles and Elsie Mendi arrived in New York the past week, and Elsie plans to spend six months in France and six months in the United States. She has completely restored her home at Versailles.

The reason Joyce Matthews didn't come to Hollywood after she divorced Milton Berle in Reno, was because Milton gave an interview in which he said she was giving him up for a movie career. So Joyce headed straight for New York.

Susan Hayward and Jess Barker dancing cheek to cheek all evening to Freddie Martin's music at the Cocoanut Grove. Apparently their reconciliation took.

Count Joe Dorelli, Dolly O'Brien's ex, is returning to Hollywood. While here he will discuss a book he is writing about Communist atrocities in his native Bulgaria.

Mrs. Esther Glaser, wife of Joe Glaser, head of the second biggest booking agency in the country, has retained Jerry Geisler and will file for divorce. There's a chill between Katharine Hepburn and Adolphe Menjou on the "State of the Union" set since Adolphe testified before the Un-American Activities Committee in Washington.

Felix Young opens at Pavilion on Thursday night, a very swank debut. David Selznick, the N. Pater Rathvouns, the William Dozier, Cary Grant and the Walter Wangers have already reserved tables.

That's all today.

BOSTONIANS HAVE BEEN READING in dispatches from Washington, how the Communists planted wires in Hollywood, and how the writers planted Communist doctrine in one big film after another.

"We're going to tell you today how Communists planted themselves in the WPA Writers' Project, and then planted a complete blueprint of New York's vast underground network of power lines, communications systems, transportation and water mains, in the hands of Soviet agents. . . . To the best of our knowledge and belief, Bostonians will be the first to read this story. . . . It reposes in government archives at Washington, and is told here in the words of a Federal agent:

"In the days of the WPA, in New York, the Writers' Project was heavily packed with Communist Party members. It was impossible to get any sort of decent job as a writer in the Writers' Project unless you could produce a Communist Party card when you reported to the WPA. It got so bad finally that Congress became annoyed and put through a law that deprived this particular WPA section of its funds. Congress couldn't find any other way of getting those Communists off the government payroll and hence on the payroll of the Writers' Project. . . . The appropriation was cut off. That was common knowledge all over the country. . . . But even then a lot of people thought it was a harmless thing to put a Communist to work writing histories and anthologies, to keep him occupied with boondoggling and out of mischief somewhere else. . . . If those people had known the real story, they might have thought differently.

"ONE OF THE writers in New York had come up with the bright idea that one of the most interesting subjects that could be written-up by the Writers' Project was what lay underneath New York. . . . He pointed out that New Yorkers had no idea of the vast conjunctions of communications, steam lines, mail tubes, sewers, water mains, subways and so on; that cross-cross under that great city. . . . It is a vast complex system, the arteries, arteries and sinews of the largest city in the world. . . . In a very real sense, it is the life of the city, the business and financial center of America. . . . A handful of enemies of our country, strategically placed, with a knowledge of the vital points of those nerves and arteries, could put New York back in a hot-dog agony . . . in a matter of minutes. . . . You can imagine what that would mean in time of war or insurrection.

"IT WOULD be an absorbing and interesting story," said the fellow who proposed the idea. . . . So his chief said, "Sure, go ahead. That's swell." Of course, it took a number of people to research it, so they armed them all with letters from the WPA to the various city bureaus and utility offices. . . . They were authorized research writers of the WPA Writers' Project, and they got the blueprints for everything from these city officials who didn't see any harm in it.

"AND so, back in the early thirties, they handed these invaluable boys all Communist Party members, of course, a complete picture. And the boys young men drew up a map which they called 'Underground New York' and then started to do their writing. . . . Just at this point, and as is often the case, it was purely an accident or fluke that this thing was discovered by the right people, someone in authority spotted its military implications and yelled, 'Whoa, this thing might fall into the hands of the wrong people! . . . The map which the Communists had drawn up was then suppressed. But inasmuch as they had made the map from the individual departmental blueprints, and had assembled all the data, suppressing the map was merely locking the barn door after the horse had already been stolen. . . . We are convinced that this complete blueprint of every major New York utility, for which foreign agents would gladly have paid thousands of dollars, is in the possession of the Soviet government at Moscow."

ODDS AND ENDS: Sen. Robert A. Taft, now an avowed candidate for the presidential nomination, . . . ex-Governor Herbert H. Smith arrives in Boston today. He will discuss the Taft-Hartley law with the attorneys-general of 46 states at the Statler tomorrow morning, address the Harvard law faculty at noon and make other brief appearances. . . . Atty.-Gen. Clarence Barnes strings along with California in her fight with the Federal Government for ownership of those oil-bearing tidelands. . . . Barnes says under the recent Supreme Court decision, the Federal Government could claim possession of all our made-land, reclaimed from the sea, such as the Long Beach Airport and even the Hack Bay. . . . It's a renewal of the "state's rights" dispute, which is as old as the nation. In Barnes' opinion, it is the most important issue of its kind since the Dred Scott, fugitive slave, case. . . . Congress will be asked by all except those two states, acting jointly, to upset the Supreme Court's ruling, even if it means amending the Constitution.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—Mr. Robert Taylor, of the movies, is a very good looking young fellow but he proved he has something more. He has a lot of moxie. Mr. Taylor has had to fight and fight hard to keep on top in the cinema. His extreme good looks have been both an asset and a liability. He came very close to being kissed out a few years ago as just a "pretty boy" with nothing but his handsome tan to offer.

He had to stand up under ridicule, and worse, but he finally won through, convincing the movie moguls that he had ability too.

Now the undercover smear forces are at him again. Mr. Taylor committed the unpardonable party line error of being a patriotic and plain-spoken American.

Unless you have been in Hollywood and seen how these lice operate you can have no idea of the cunning young Mr. Taylor has had to withstand. There is no whisper too vile for him to circulate and they are past masters in the art of subtle ridicule.

They resurrect old off-color jokes and tack them onto their victims; they make up stories about his home life which have not the slightest basis in fact. They even went through hoary joke books to get something they can twist around, making him the principal character.

I happen to know Mr. Taylor, and while I would not describe him as one of the great thinkers of our age, he is a decent, right-thinking American.

MR. TAYLOR appeared before the House Un-American Activities committee and, as usual, the front row line of subpoenaed witnesses went through their sneering, wise-cracking act. Every time the actor expressed his opinion of Hollywood Communists they nudged each other, whispered and giggled.

Incidentally, they all seem to be gigglers. Maybe Louis B. Mayer had something when he said he thought they were all "cracked."

They practically rendered themselves cross-eyed, winking at each other when Taylor finally informed the committee his feelings were so strong he would not knowingly work on the same picture with a Communist.

They are probably cudgeling the brains of the boys for new "pretty boy" smears against the actor right now.

I would just like to make a passing observation about that American phenomenon, fandom. Fans stormed the old House office building to get a glimpse of the actor. When he departed the mob went too, although there were other important witnesses to follow.

About the time of the big onrush a gentleman passed by but not one of the fans gave him a tumble. After all he was only the Chief Justice of the United States.

MORRIS RYSKIND, the famous playwright ("Of Thee I Sing"), is here with the Hollywood contingent. After hearing repeated allusions to the Constitution, he observed:

"What our homegrown Communists want is a Bill of Rights. I trust that the above does not represent Mr. Ryskind at his best. He gets fabulous wages for his bon mots as some of them must be good.

By George Dixon

ABOUT THE TIME when Al Capone was going strong, FBI boss J. Edgar Hoover came out with a blast against what he called the "rat code." This was the code of the underworld which applied "rat" to any character who turned state's evidence or tried to go straight.

The other day a reporter named Howard Rushmore took the stand at the anti-Red hearing to testify against our Communists. He knew where he spoke because he used to be one of them, having been drama critic of the Daily Worker.

Rushmore was explaining why he deserted the Commies, when Robert Kenny, counsel for a group of writers and actors and directors whose activities are under question, turned to one of his clients and whispered: "Rushmore doesn't look like a rat, does he?"

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

IT HAS COME TO me that the Communists and their left-wing sympathizers and associates plan to intimidate the courts by overwhelming them with contempt procedures. After all, if 500 to 1000 people are brought into the courts on contempt charges for refusal to testify before congressional committees or before administrative agencies of government, the courts might find themselves handicapped. It is like blocking the telephone lines during a strike so that only a busy signal comes when the particular office is called.

Already some 18 or 19 such cases have been brought into the courts within a short period, principally for refusing to testify before the Thomas committee on the grounds that the committee is improperly constituted because Rep. Rankin was improperly elected. The lawyers who bring these cases know that the law is against them, that only the Congress can decide who shall constitute its membership, that the Congress has already decided that Rep. Rankin was duly elected and he has been sworn in and seated and that, for all practical purposes, that closes the matter. They bring the issue only to clog the procedure.

At the present time, there is speculation as to whether the actors, screen-writers, directors, etc., who are accused of being Communists, will testify or will permit themselves to be held in contempt. In the latter event, 79 persons will have to appear before the courts, will probably be given a year for contempt, will appeal and will hope that two years might pass before the appeal is heard.

NO QUESTION OF freedom of speech, or thought, or expression is involved in this investigation. Congress has a constitutional right to investigate such questions as involve the welfare of the United States. A congressional committee is not a court of law and no man can be declared guilty of anything by a congressional committee.

I once had an experience with such a committee, presided over by Sen. LaFollette. I never testified before that committee nor was I asked to. Statements were made concerning me which were untrue or half-true and which Communists, their allies and others have used for years against me. I have paid little attention to all this because were I guilty of any crime, the law would have proceeded against me.

These alleged Communists or those accused or denounced as Communists are in precisely that position. If they have committed no felonies or misdemeanors, they have nothing to fear. If, on the other hand, they have acted as a fifth column for an alien power, no propagandistic activity about freedom of speech or freedom of thought will help them. Even if they refuse to testify, it will avail them little because this, as every other country, must protect itself against treason from within.

INCIDENTALLY, I received the following notice:

"Your attention is called to the recent decision of the New York State Court of Appeals.

"This decision held that it is libelous to falsely call any person a Communist. The decision even goes so far as to make it libelous to falsely refer to a person as a Communist sympathizer, communistically inclined, or any such designation.

"Such, or any similar statements should not be made against any person, corporation, or institution unless they are probably true.

"Of course, the press may publish such accusations with complete immunity when making a fair and true report of any judicial, legislative or any public and official proceeding."

This refers to an unrealistic decision by Judge Stanley Fuld of the above mentioned court who may have a leg to stand on in the law but none in common-sense and the course of events. Does not Judge Fuld know (I suppose he does not) that many of the most active persons in the field of Communism in this country deny their affiliations? But judge or no judge, we shall find a word to protect America from treachery as well as stupidity.

Forgotten Something Today?

Brains and hard work usually add up to success. Yet, many able people miss out because of one thing. They forget to protect themselves against "B.O." (body odor). Too often they are even unaware that they offend. Don't let this BIG "little thing" rob you of success. Be sure you don't offend. Bathe daily with Lifebuoy. 32 Simple, Daily Exercises Give You Slim, Trim Figure

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, MON., OCT. 27, 1947

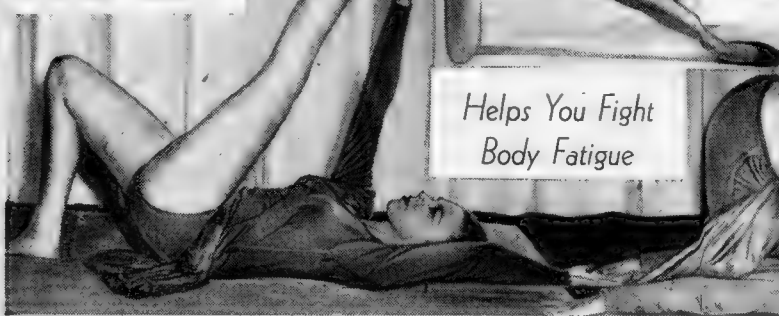

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

IF EVER A WHITTLED waist and long, slim lines were important . . . that time is NOW!

With Dame Fashion (and what a relentless gal she is this season) demanding, but unequivocally, the body trim . . . the body slim . . . the body ballerina-beautiful . . . there's no alternative for the fashion-conscious woman BUT to make purposeful pitch for figure perfection.

If you think you can be fashion-wise and look it with anything but a whittled waist and long, slim lines . . . you'll be laughed at and not with. These are the facts . . . the rest is up to you. Whether you want to go along with new fall fashion silhouette (and wait until you see spring's picture) . . . or stay as plump and loosely-put-together as you are.

My advice is to cut yourself in on slimmest, trimmest and ballerina-beauty. Become an advocate of rhythmic exercises as a means of helping to fight body fatigue, improve posture, discipline weight, and promote the lithe, graceful line in motion or repose. If you need a basic diet routine, also . . . it is yours for the asking, if you write

Helps You Fight

So for the academic side of body beauty . . . today we start a series of daily exercises which will continue throughout the week . . . specifically directed toward reducing and firming the hips, abdomen, waistline, thighs and legs . . . with a plus-emphasis on postural perfection, without which no woman can wear her clothes well.

To assemble these purposeful calisthenics . . . easy to do, simple to follow, but efficient in intent . . . we solicited the expert knowledge of the top-notch beauty houses in the country . . . Elizabeth Arden, Helena Rubinstein, Dorothy Gray and Richard Hudnut's Ann Delfield, director of the Success Course. In the New York salons of these beauty authorities . . . they make a career of perfecting the feminine form.

Today's exercises are contributed by Elizabeth Arden who says that like sleep, relaxation is an essential quality for beauty . . . and learning to exercise correctly, without strain, is an excellent means, not only toward this end, but for improving the anatomical outline.

AVOID EXHAUSTION

If there is any question of your physical ability to pursue a course of rhythmic calisthenics . . . first see your physician. If you are in normal good health . . . it should be simple. But don't try to accomplish new figure dimensions in a week. And don't overstrain yourself. The number of times suggested for repeating the exercise is only approximate. And don't get over-tired. Do them a few times . . . and work up to a full schedule. Let your feelings be your guide!

Never, never exert yourself to the point of exhaustion. Let me suggest that you take your measurements before you start. Keep weekly records . . . and we venture to say that at the end of a month or six weeks or eight weeks . . . you'll be amazed at the cut in the outline. So when our outlined series is concluded . . . don't you end there . . . but continue until an easy dose of daily drill adds up to a figure-ful of finesse. Do the exercises at the same time every day . . . whether it is in the morning or at night, although the morning is preferable. And do them with a minimum of clothing on your back . . . a bra and a pair of shorts. Or better still, in the nude in the privacy of your bedroom.

TO SLIM and sleek the waistline . . . and firm stomach muscles . . . here's the Elizabeth Arden way. Lie on back with right knee bent, left leg straight. Kick left leg up straight . . . reaching for toes with right hand. Return leg to floor, keeping back flat. Repeat six times on each side.

Choose whichever exercises you like. They are all good, all specific, all result-producing. But often, some women like some exercises better than others and can perform them more efficiently.

ARDEN'S EXERCISES

Here are Elizabeth Arden's rhythmic exercises:

FOR WAIST-HIGH TRIMNESS: Stand, feet hip-width apart, arms stretched overhead. Bend directly to the left side. Return to original position and repeat to right side. Repeat 15 times on each side.

FOR THE LOVELIER LEG LOOK: Raise arms forward, shoulder height, rise on toes, bend knees, as far down as possible, into a deep knee bend. Slowly rise again, straightening knees. Be sure always to keep perfect posture position, abdomen in, back straight. Repeat 10 times, morning AND night.

If you desire additional information, or exercises, we'll supply them if you write. Good luck . . . and a good, good ballerina-beauty to you, too.

Cider-Grape Punch Grand for Halloween

By MARTHA LEE

(From National Newspaper Food Editors' Conference)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27—Halloween, like Christmas, belongs to the children. No night has more games and tricks associated with it, and its gay orange and black decorations featuring pumpkins, cats and witches in all forms make it a very festive occasion.

Whether you are providing a sit-down meal or a buffet supper, you will want to have good, cooling drinks to refresh the participants in the vigorous games. Serve mugs of cider or ginger ale. For a bit different flavor, add 2 tablespoons grape juice, or the juice of half an orange to each glass of ginger ale. A scoop of vanilla ice cream added to a glass of ginger ale always makes a hit with youngsters. Cola beverages and other carbonated waters are great favorites, too.

You might like to make a punch for the crowd, and here are three with fruit juice bases mixed with sparkling water that are nice for a children's party:

2 cups grape juice
1 cup grapefruit juice
2 cups cider 1/4 cup sugar
Sparkling water as needed

Combine grape juice, cider, grapefruit juice and sugar; mix well. Pour over ice in bowl. Just before serving add sparkling water. Makes 25-cup servings.

1 cup cranberry jelly
1 1/2 cups pineapple juice
Sparkling water as needed

Mash jelly with fork, add pineapple juice. Beat with rotary beater until foamy. Pour into punch bowl over ice and just before serving, add sparkling water. Makes 16 punch cup servings or 8 tall drinks.

MOONLIGHT BREW

2 qts. cider
1 1/2 cups lemon juice
16 bottles sparkling water
Sugar or honey, if desired

Combine cider, lemon juice and sugar or honey. Strain into pitcher. Serve in highball glasses with ice and sparkling water. Makes 16 servings.

If you're planning to serve sandwiches, here are some suggestions to give that eerie respect that all Halloween party refreshments seem to demand.

BLACK CAT SANDWICHES

12 slices bread
12 slices cheese
8 cooked prunes
Mayonnaise

Cut bread slices in circles spread with mayonnaise. Cut smaller circle of sliced cheese and place on mayonnaise. Carefully pit prunes and cut in halves. Place 1/2 prune skin side up on each slice. Cut rest of prune in small pieces for head, ears and tail of cat. Makes 12 sandwiches.

GOBLIN SANDWICHES

16 doughnuts
1 cup Brazil nuts
1 can deviled ham
1 avocado pear
Worcestershire sauce

Toast the Brazil nuts in a moderate oven about 15 minutes, then mash with a rolling pin. Add deviled ham, and pulp of the avocado pear. Season highly with Worcestershire sauce. Split the doughnuts, spread the lower half with the filling and cover with the top half. Makes 8 servings.

Boston Banker's Love Story Told

The late Augustus Lowell Putnam, Harvard graduate and Back Bay banker, merchant and sportsman, took considerable pride in being unorthodox.

Modeling his unconventionality on the antics of his late aunt, Poetess Amy Lowell, he swapped wives with a dear friend and later took up with a Polish actress, Irena Popielska-Wagner, to whom he willed a great part of his fortune.

Paul I. 42 Football World Awaits Army, Notre Dame Tilt

By JACK CONWAY

Columbia's 21 to 20 victory over the Army was a surprise to the country and a distinct disappointment to Notre Dame. The Irish have been rooting for the Cadets to keep winning so that they could get greater satisfaction if they are able to defeat them in their game scheduled for South Bend a week from Saturday.

This will be the final contest of the series between Army and Notre Dame until some new arrangements are made. Notre Dame and Army, if undefeated going into this contest, was the greatest possible football attraction. Lou Little's Columbia eleven then came through with the startling upset which stopped the run of Army victories which had reached a total of 32 over a three and a half year period.

Notre Dame was among the elevens beaten easily by the Army, and they did not like it at South Bend. During the latter years of the war, Army still possessed ample football power, while universities like Notre Dame had to get along with younger and necessarily less experienced players. Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis, Army stars, were too powerful and finished for 17- to 19-year-old youngsters up from high schools and academies.

Notre Dame will play the Navy before a sellout crowd at Cleveland on Saturday, and then move back to South Bend to get ready for the Army. Even though the Cadets were beaten 21 to 20 by Columbia, they still have a stand-out football club that will make a mighty bid for victory when it takes on the Irish.

Notre Dame is our choice to win over the Navy and then go on to even its scores with the Army.

The Dartmouth-Harvard game was the most thrilling football contest witnessed in the Stadium this fall. The "Big Green" team showed particularly well in the first half and piled up enough points to win 14 to 13. Harvard had a distinct advantage in the second half, but it was unable to overcome Dartmouth's early lead.

The 35,000 crowd also set a new high for the season at the Stadium, and proved that Harvard and Dartmouth still have their strong hold on New England football fans.

Eddie Collins, vice-president of the Red Sox, was among the celebrities this writer saw at the game. Eddie, a Columbia alumnus, was elated to hear of the success of Lou Little's eleven against the Army. It was at Cape Cod last summer that Little mapped out some of the plays that were used so successfully against the Army.

Foxboro Harness Track Closes on Friday Night

Paul Bowser's night harness track at Foxboro will close its meeting on Friday night. This will be the last pari-mutuel betting in Massachusetts for 1947, and if the weather man shows Bowser some consideration the attendance and mutuel handle should set new highs. During the past week records kept totalling with the $136,600 wagered by 7600 persons on Saturday night establishing a new record.

The American Grand Circuit may ask permission to stage a meeting at Foxboro next year. The last time the Grand Circuit held a meeting in Massachusetts it was held at Agawam. The world's leading trotters and pacers show in the Grand Circuit while there are numerous $5000 stakes. It is unlikely that anything definite will be done in regard to the Grand Circuit moving into Foxboro before early next year.

Priest-Zanelli to Meet at Garden Nov. 17

If present plans materialize, Al (Red) Priest and Ralph Zanelli will clash in a return bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on Nov. 17. Zanelli furnished an upset at Providence last week when he scored a decisive triumph over Priest.

"There was no question of Zanelli's margin of victory over Priest," Johnny Buckley told this writer. "Priest had an off night and was far below his usual form. I look for Al to be in much better condition if plans are completed for a return bout at the Garden on Nov. 17."

Priest, like the average run of fans, was of the opinion he would win from Zanelli easily. One of the surest ways to run into trouble in the ring is to underrate an opponent. Even a champion cannot afford to let down in boxing or in any other sport. If he does, he is likely to lose to a more alert opponent.

Zanelli at times showed great ring possibilities. His failure to follow up openings caused him to lose bouts he should have won by wide margins. Zanelli fought a perfect battle against Priest in Providence according to those persons who were at the ringside, and if he does as well in his next meeting with an improved Priest the fans should witness a hectic battle.

Random Shots at the Target

The Yanks, beaten by the Cardinals in Chicago, will next clash with the Bears and then journey to Los Angeles for a game with the Rams. A rather rugged schedule. Clipper Smith's club showed improvement against the Giants and did as well as was expected of it against the Cardinals.

TO LEFT—Bill Swiacki catches pass on four-yard line.

Swiacki Sparks Columbia

By BILL GRIMES

The current Columbia Lions must be a throwback from the 1934 wearers of the light blue and white, who, most unexpectedly, beat the Stanford Indians in the Rose Bowl.

On successive week-ends, the lions, who snapped Army's string of 32 conflicts without a defeat, were pummeled by Yale and Penn. After the Penn game in the first post-game fight talk of his career, Coach Lou Little openly accused his charges of quitting to the Red and Blue.

Trailing the Cadets, 7 to 20, in the fourth quarter, the Lions suddenly became inspired with the will to win. Stymied by the hard-hitting Army line, Columbia took to the air and established a new Columbia record by completing 20 passes, eight by Bill Swiacki, who hails from Southbridge and is a war transfer from Holy Cross. It was the sensational completions by Swiacki, rather than the accuracy of Gene Rossides and Lou Kusserow, who did the pitching, that brought victory to Columbia and wiped out the records of Sid Luckman and Paul Gorenvelli.

While the Lions were working over Army, the Purdue Boilermakers were opening up Michigan's path to the Big Nine championship by pinning a 14 to 7 defeat on Illinois and the Wolverines were helping their own cause by beating Minnesota, 13 to 6, which was a closer score than they expected.

Over the week-end, five colleges bowed out of the undefeated and untied fraternity. On the coast, Southern Cal took care of the Golden Bears of Berkeley, winning going away, 39 to 14, thereby establishing a lien on a Rose Bowl bid. The Duke Blue Devils eliminated the Wake Forest Deacons, 13 to 6, and Penn State came from behind to hand the West Virginia Mountaineers their first setback.

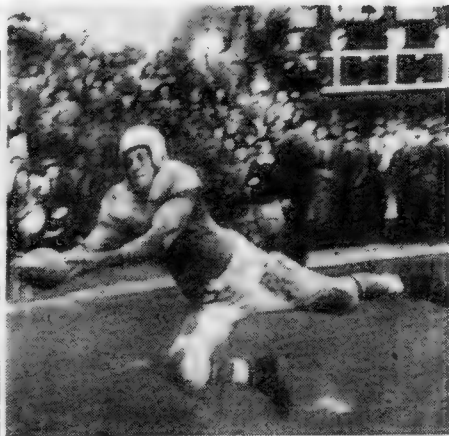

After losing three in a row, to Texas Tech, L. S. U. and Texas Christian, Texas A. & M. turned on Baylor, taking a 24 to 0 decision. And, Wayne University took out Buffalo.

So, at the half way mark of the

Dartmouth Almost Had Moffie

Sitting in the press box watching his Indians upset a favored Harvard team Saturday was a local Dartmouth scout who was pulling for the Hanover visitors all the way. When he saw the way the Crimson bounced back his praise was for one man alone.

"That Hal Moffie is one boy we really wanted to get."

He watched the Brookline boy cut off tackle, dodge two would-be tacklers, and throw himself over the goal line for the first Harvard score.

"He's really quick—a natural ball carrier. We had him all set for Dartmouth, but his mother wanted him to go to Harvard."

He saw the 168-pound tailback start to run around his own right end, straighten up, and toss a 15-yard pass to Ken O'Donnell to start the Crimson off towards their second score.

"He's the whole spark out there. It looks like a different team when he's in there. Well, he wanted to come to Harvard, but we wish he had stayed with us."

There's no doubt the former Brookline High School All-Scholastic looked good. He ran back a couple of punts, squirming his way through a horde of tacklers to move the ball up the field. He outran his interference on one play, but squeezed through to a near first down.

His stride is a shifty one. He combines a quick change-of-pace with good speed. The boy is too light to be a hard runner, but the way he slips through tacklers' hands makes him hard to bring down. Dick Harlow capitalized on his snakelike running by pulling him back with Gammon to receive the Dartmouth punts, something which hasn't been done all year.

With Pressure Off, Army Will Be Tough to Beat

By FRANK LEAHY

Head Coach, Notre Dame University

Regardless of whether there were bigger upsets or more exciting games elsewhere, the real football news of the past week-end was the report from New York that Columbia had beaten Army, 21-20. The West Pointers had gone 32 games without defeat and it is certainly a compliment to Coach Lou Little and his Columbia Lions that they were the club to end the streak.

To our way of thinking, and it may sound strange, we believe Army, now that they've been beaten, will prove to be an even better club than before. Our reasoning is simply that the pressure is now off, no longer will the players possess the tenseness associated with protecting a long streak without defeat.

In Lafayette, Ind., there resides a man who helped coach the West Pointers during most of their long string. He is Stu Holcomb and the job he is doing with the Purdue Boilermakers is remarkable. Two weeks ago, Notre Dame had a difficult time winning from Purdue. We were accused of having an off day.

Purdue had been badly beaten by Wisconsin at the start of the season. Rumors, especially sports rumors, travel fast. Purdue was supposed to be an easy mark after our game with the Boilermakers, members of our coaching staff and lads on the team tried to explain that there had been nothing wrong with Notre Dame that day. We simply had been fortunate to win from a well-drilled, hard-hitting team.

Saturday afternoon, undefeated Illinois found out about this Purdue team. The final score was 14-7 for Purdue. It is understandable that the Illini might not have been up for the game with Michigan only a week off. However, you've got to admire Holcomb's handiwork with a group who a month ago were labeled "easy marks."

If Illinois was guilty of thinking ahead to Michigan, it is equally conceivable that the Wolverines may have had similar thoughts toward the Illini. In any event, the high-scoring Michigan machine was considerably slowed down by Minnesota and had to come from behind to edge the Gophers 13-6.

Other notable upsets were the 12-0 win of Pittsburgh over Ohio State and Alabama's 17-7 defeat of Georgia. Football is an unpredictable business and this is as good a place as any to mention our Saturday prediction record. We picked 28 winners, had eight losers and one tie for a season's total of 121 victories against 42 defeats and eight ties.

Texas had a few problems getting past Rice, 12-0, but that too, is understandable, for the Owls, although beaten a couple of times this year, are a good team. Texas, naturally, rates with the best.

On a day when the scoring attacks of most of the nation's leaders were retarded, the mighty Trojans of Southern California continued to roll, beating previously undefeated California, 39-14. Georgia Tech is still the leader in the Southeast. The Yellow Jackets had an easy time Saturday against the Citadel, winning 38-0.

Pennsylvania and Penn State continue to do well in the East. George Munger's club won 21-0 over Navy but it was an almost even game up to the final quarter. Penn State had no easy time in getting by West Virginia, 21-14.

At Notre Dame, our boys beat a good Iowa club, 21-0. My remarks are going to sound somewhat like what I said after the Nebraska game. The Notre Dame team is improving. Each week we get a little better. I am sure that it is safe to say it will take a good team to beat us.

Frank Leahy's next football analysis will appear in Wednesday's Boston Evening American.

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—Ted Vogel, 22-year-old Tufts College junior from Watertown, Mass., won the national AAU marathon here yesterday, coming from behind in the final mile to outdistance Tom Crane of Springfield, Mass., his closest opponent, by 350 yards.

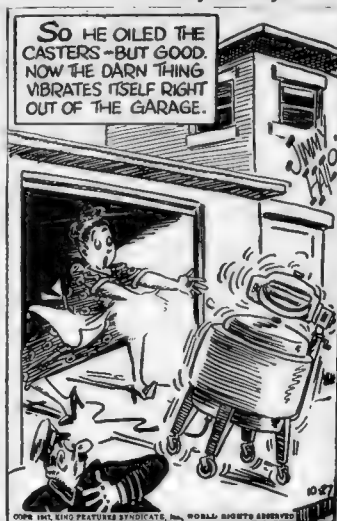

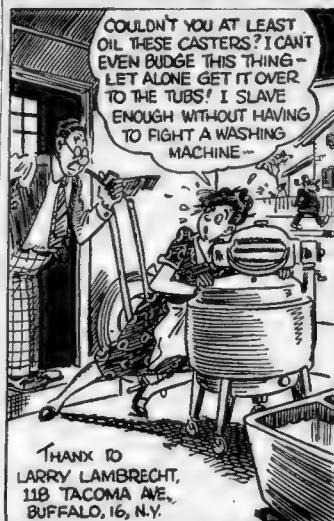

Vogel, who runs for the Boston Athletic Ass'n and was competing in only the fourth official marathon of his career, completed the 26 miles and 385 yards in two hours, 40 minutes and 11 seconds.

Bill Steiner of New York's Mac-Cabi Athletic Club finished third and Gerard Cote of Montreal, the defending champion, was fourth.

John Kelley of Boston, former winner of the Boston Marathon and AAU champion in 1933, placed seventh, while Charley Robbins of Dalton, Ct., the winner here in 1914 and 1945, came in 12th.

Vogel's victory stamped him as an outstanding prospect for one of the three places open to Marathon runners on the 1948 Olympic team.

The first 10 finishers today, as well as the first 10 in the Boston Marathon last April, qualified for the final Olympic tryout—the Boston A. A. Marathon next April 13.

One of the first colleges or universities to play intercollegiate football, the Georgetown University eleven, scheduled to meet Boston College's Eagles at Braves Field Saturday afternoon, is celebrating its 73d season on the gridiron.

As usual, head coach Jack Hagerly, born and brought up in Dorchester, will bring a well-drilled eleven to the Hub to battle with the powerful Eagles who are in the process of recovering from their rugged battle against Villanova last week.

B. C. should be at top strength for the engagement. Although many cruises were in evidence after the battering they took from the Wildcats, the Eagles' wounds will be healed by the time the Hoyas come to town.

Little Joe Diminick's ankle injury proved to be slight. A Boston College examination disclosed that he'll be all right by next Saturday.

With quarterback Ed Clasby scheduled to make his first appearance since the opener with Clemson, the entire B. C. squad with the exception of guard Vic Palladino, lost for the season with a knee injury, will be on hand for Georgetown.

Clasby could have played Friday night but the long layoff ruined his timing and Myers strung along with Stuka. Steve played a good game against Villanova although he absorbed a terrific physical beating. He's sure to see a lot of service from here on in, even if Clasby is fully recovered.

One thing was evident after Friday's game. Either the Villanova scouts did an amazing job of tabbing the Eagles' pass plays or somebody up front was missing assignments. Myers will attempt to find the solution when movies of the game are available early this week.

Every time Stuka went back to pass a whole wave of enemy players were swarming in on him, with the result that he completed but one pass all night. The only loss he made was a short heave to Bob Palladino.

Georgetown is the oldest denominational college of its kind in America. The Catholic school was founded in 1789. Located in Washington, D. C., Georgetown is a Jesuit institution of 4300 students. It plays its home games in Griffith Stadium and its colors are Blue and Gray.

"This trip proved to be an exciting experience," Mr. Shaw told us, "and we enjoyed some of the best fishing of our lives! As a guide, we were fortunate in obtaining the services of Joe St. Marin, who knows every leaf on the trees and every ripple in the waters."

Among the streams hit by these anglers were in Middle, Ecorces, Grande Pikauba, Petite Pikauba, and Jacques Cartier rivers; in addition to Lakes Noel, Regis, Scott, and Big Lake Morin.

All Harvard Rejoices in Team's Great Comeback

The Indians made their raid and now looted Cambridge to them is just the memory of a great victory which they will speak of for many a year. They carried the Crimson scalp back to Hanover and with it the football that gave them their one-point margin of glory.

For Harvard nothing is left but to bask in the glory of their spectacular second period comeback which saw them rise off the floor and turn the game into something more than a farce. The game went into their record book as an upset but the defeat might prove of more value than any number of wins against less spirited teams.

Last Saturday was the first time that the Harvard team has been behind all year excluding the Virginia massacre which should be classified as a stretch of Harvard imagination in scheduling. In the opening game of the season the club breezed through without a short breath against Western Maryland. In the Boston University tilt they were tied for a short time after leading most of the game and later squeezed through to a victory. They led again during the second half of the Holy Cross tussle after showing good strength in the first stanza. Against Dartmouth it was a different story.

The Big Green came out clawing from the word go and didn't let up until Harvard woke up. It was the first time that victory seemed so far away. Starting that second half the Crimson was 14 points to the rear and the Dartmouth line looked impregnable. Something happened in that Harvard locker room between the second and third periods. Maybe they all realized for the first time all year the club was far behind and something should be done about it.

It was a different Harvard team that faced the Indians the second half. . . one that wouldn't be pushed all over the Stadium in front of their home crowd to boot. When acting Captain Chip Gannon called the starting team over to a huddle in the middle of the field they looked as though they were on fire. They dominated the play throughout the entire second part of the game. The backs carried the ball as though they meant business instead of being tied to a wagon. The line rose to great heights and stopped the Green ground attack cold, once on their five yard line after the Indians had brought the ball within distance of wrapping it up once and for all that they could make a comeback and maybe it will do some good. This is a young Harlow team. Most of the players will be back next year and some for two more. The victory over Holy Cross probably had them a little in the clouds, but they were rudely brought right back down again by Dartmouth.

The squad came out of the game with no injuries and a few discoveries. The foremost is that Hal Moffie can tote that pigskin with all the finesse of a veteran. The Brookline boy is very quick and shifty. He seemed to be off to the races late in the game Saturday when he took the ball on a reverse and started around right end with about three interferences. He outran his blocking, however, instead of staying behind them. He's got a lot of talent but following interference is the lesson he has yet to master. The pictures of the Maryland and Boston University games showed him guilty of the same mistake. He is so fast, however, that his running is always dangerous to any opponent.

Bucky Harrison, has the best local point-after record going into the Dartmouth game and it was too bad he had to be the victim of a perfectly-executed Dartmouth play when his boot was blocked after the first Harvard touchdown. His record is now six conversions in four attempts. Ken O'Donnell continued his brilliant play by going the whole 60 minutes Saturday, the only Crimson player to do it. . . Dartmouth had two 60-minute men in George Schreck and Joe Sullivan. . . Sullivan has played 295 minutes out of a total 300 so far this season. . . a good record for any man. . . Wally Flynn wasn't having as much luck with his kicks as the week before against the Crusaders. . . they seemed to bounce back the wrong way besides being low the Holy Cross ends hurried him all afternoon, but he seemed to have much better defense Saturday against the Green. . . maybe that's just the way he kicks.

Pics Lose To Clippers

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Baltimore Clippers of the Eastern Amateur Ice Hockey League opened their home season last night by defeating the Boston Olympics 5 to 2 before an estimated 1800 fans.

The two teams played a league game in Boston last night and Boston won 8-0. However, four Olympics' players were unable to make the trip here because of injuries.

Baltimore scored two goals in the first period and added its other three in the third and final frame. Boston made a goal in each of the final two periods.

collegiate season, Michigan, Notre Dame, Pennsylvania, Texas, Georgia Tech, Penn State, Virginia, Southern Methodist, and Utah are the only major elevens in the elite class. There are, however, three New England small colleges with perfect records, Tufts, New Hampshire and Wesleyan.

Over in the Harvard Stadium, it was too much Joe Sullivan and not quite enough Hal Moffie. Sullivan handled his offense exceptionally well against Harvard's eight and nine man lines. He hit, first, "Red" Rowe and, then, Bill Spoor with passes on Dartmouth's two touchdown marches and contributed a couple of nice advances as a ball carrier. But, it was Sullivan's uncanny ability to intercept passes that made possible the Dartmouth victory. When Joe grabbed Jim Noonan's long pass deep in his own territory just before the end of the game, it was a tremendous relief to the Big Green and curtains for the Sons of John Harvard.

Moffie was the sparkplug for Harvard. He turned in some thrilling runs, and his ability to absorb punishment was astounding. If there's any department that the Indians have mastered, it is tackling. But, they had trouble getting Moffie, who dodged, ducked and even bucked through.

The Crimson didn't appear to be keyed up in the first half. Of course such a condition could have been brought on by the fierce tackling. Harvard made 37 line-up changes to Dartmouth's 19. The Big Green appeared to have a 20 player crew, so some of the subs had to be replaced after one or two plays.

The Dartmouth line was great but the first stringers were very tired in the final period. However, they played out the string.

For the second week, the B. U. Terriers were overmatched. They were badly beaten by William & Mary, which is one of the strongest clubs in the South. But, they showed they are game to the core by getting up off the turf and scoring in the final period.

Johnny Grinnell, Huskies tossed a scare into "Fish" Ellis and his Jumbos over at Medford. It required a recovery of a fumble late in the third period and a pass interception for Tufts to beat Northeastern.

Returning to a single wing attack, Holy Cross rolled over Syracuse 26 to 0, so it looks as though the Crusaders will toss their version of the "T" into the discards. It must have dawned on someone that wat Holy Cross doesn't know about running from "T" formations out them three ball games, Dartmouth, Villanova and Harvard.

Yale's "breather" with Springfield was a romp for the Elis. Cornell returned to the win column with a 28 to 21 verdict over Princeton. Notre Dame marched to a 21 to 6 victory over the Iowa Cornhuskers and the Crimson Tide clicked well enough to take Georgia 17 to 7.

Ping-Pong Was Early Rave of Tommy Collins

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Tommy Collins, the young 19-year-old featherweight who will be a headliner in tonight's fight show at the Arena, is really a refugee from a ping-pong table. "Sure, I used to like ping-pong better than boxing a couple of years ago at the South End Boys' Club," said Collins.

Collins learned his boxing at the South End Club. He learned it from Tom Turley and Bill Crook. Bill is now the football coach at Wellesley. Jack McCarthy, another football coach, Cathedral, is one of the ringside customers at Tommy's fights. Jack was at Cathedral when Tommy's sisters went there. One of Tommy's sisters, is now a nun at St. Matthews, Sister Franciana.

That was before Tommy met Johnnie Conlan and started to take boxing seriously. The young 121-pounder has earned a lot in the past year. He has had 25 fights and has won 24 of them. Eighteen of these were by kayo.

"The only fellow who has licked me," said Collins, "is Ray Duhamaine at Worcester. I had a cut eye that night and the referee stopped the fight in the fourth round. Then Johnnie got me two rematches with Ray and I won them both."

"Now that I can't play football for the Trojans down on East Newton st. and the Volunteers (that's the team Mickey Maguire plays for) down on Adams st., Roxbury, I guess I will have more time to do real training. Both Mickey and myself got banged up playing football two weeks ago on a Saturday. Then two days later we had to fight in the Arena."

"The fellow I really want to fight is Buddy Hayes. Buddy is Club course here."

a real good fighter, even though he did get knocked out last week by Pat Brady. I don't think I am ready for Buddy yet. He knows a lot more than I do," Collins continued.

"I am pretty sure I am going to beat Phil Thomas tonight. Phil is a tough, hard fighter, and I like them. The guys that give me the most trouble are the 'cuties' who toss a punch and fall back. Thomas keeps coming in. I like to fight that way."

We mentioned the future once more and Collins said, "If I get five or six more good fights under my belt I think I will know enough to beat Buddy. I don't want setups for they don't do a young fighter any good."

The rest of tonight's fight card at the Arena is as follows:

Jackie Harris, Malton, vs. Leo Huch, Cambridge, 10 rounds
Zoe Blomquist, Cambridge, vs. George Russell, Lowell, 10 rounds
Spier Armstrong, Boston, vs. Rod Wile, Manchester, 10 rounds

Brimsek Stands Out as Listless Bruins Win, 3-2

By BILL GRIMES

"What was the matter with the Bruins tonight?" many of the fans were asking as they were leaving the Garden, where the Ross men had nosed out the Chicago Blackhawks 3 to 2.

The home and home series with Les Canadiens probably was the answer.

On Wednesday last, the Bruins and Canucks played the best brand of hockey seen at the Garden in years. And, that opinion isn't based on the fact that Boston was the victor. For sixty minutes, the Ross men and Frenchmen battled toe to toe. It was such a rugged game that in order to keep it under control, Referee Bill Chadwick sent eight Bruins and a like number of Canucks to the penalty box.

On Saturday, the same clubs tangled in Montreal. And, again, Chadwick was the referee. The boys went to it once more. There were no less than fifteen penalties called in the first and second periods. Then, apparently, the players realized that Chadwick was going to see that the game was played according to the rules. So, only three went to the bastille in the final canto.

Unquestionably, the games with the Frenchmen took the zip out of the Bruins. And, the long day trip down from Montreal yesterday didn't help them. They were listless last night. And, moreover, they were confused. It was indeed a break that they weren't playing a stronger club than the Hawks, or they wouldn't have picked up their fifth and sixth of the season.

Although the fans went home singing the praises of Kenny Smith, Eddie Sandford and Joe Carveth, who were the goal getters, it was Frank Brimsek, who saved the Bruins from going down to second defeat in as many nights.

Brimsek's outer defenses were ragged. They were outguessed by the Hawks, especially by the Bentley brothers, time and time again. Then, too, they were guilty of backing in on Brimsek, while milling around trying to find out had the puck and where.

But with the exception of the two goals scored by the Bentleys, "Brimmy" managed, somehow, to keep the Boston cages free of pucks.

The Blackhawks showed a couple of good rookies in Metro Prystai and Cy Thomas. But, of course, the Bentleys, as usual, were the standouts. Doug put the Hawks out in front late in the first period, after taking a pass from Max and in the second chapter, they reversed the routine.

Emil Francis, also, is entitled to take a bow for his fine goal tending. His protection wasn't even on a par with Brimsek's but the youngster carried on in grand style, thereby keeping his club in contention until the final whistle blew.

Lightweights Calvin McNeal, Roxbury, and Jack Curry, Somerville, have filed their entries for the annual "B" program to be held at Mechanics Bldg. next Saturday night (a shift from its usual Wednesday) by the South End A. C.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27 (AP)—Ewell Blackwell's All-Stars, composed of major league players, dropped a 3-2 decision to the Kansas City Royals, Negro stars, at Wrigley Field yesterday.

Blackwell, Cincinnati hurler, was not credited with the loss. Johnny Lindell of the Yanks, got that dubious honor. Satchell Paige was the winning pitcher.

Bobby Bauer May Return To Famous Kitchener Line

Little Bobby Bauer didn't come down here from Waterloo, Ont. for the sole purpose of receiving the Lady Byng Trophy and the $1000 for being the winner of that award.

The Dominion of Canada has a reliable mail department and the National Hockey League has Bauer's home address.

During his recent visit to Toronto for the All-Star game, Bobby Bauer told Dick Irvin and Frank Selke that he'd changed his mind about retiring from hockey and planned to return to the Bruins.

But, Bauer didn't divulge his plans to either Pres. Weston W. Adams or General Manager Art Ross both of whom were in Toronto. They had accepted Bauer's announcement that he was through playing hockey as authentic. They couldn't wait until almost the first of November for a right winger.

The Krauts were receiving better than $7000 each from the Bruins before they enlisted in the Canadian Army. And, I do not believe that they were "cut" when they returned. And, "seven grand," plus the odd bonus, here and there, isn't pay for six months' work.

Reports have Bauer playing with the Bruins in Toronto and Detroit but we question if Pres. Adams will sanction any such arrangement. There is no longer a shortage of manpower in hockey and it would belittle the game if Bauer, or any player was allowed to sign a part time contract.

Referee Bill Chadwick should demand more money if Pres. Clarence Campbell continues to assign him to Bruins-Canadiens games. Chadwick handled both Boston-Montreal conflicts. He gave out 16 penalties, three of which were majors last Wednesday.

day night and on Saturday in Montreal he spotted 18 rule infractions.

Milt Schmidt is $1000 richer than he was at this time yesterday. Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL presented "Schmiddy" with a $1000 check last night for making the 946-47 All-Star team. Milt was also the recipient of a gold watch charm puck, as were Frank Brimsek and Jack Crawford, for being selected to previous All-Star sextets.

The Bruins returned from Montreal by train and last night was the last appearance on Garden ice until November 16, when they'll meet the Detroit Red Wings, who are off to a good start under their new coach, Jack Ivan, who came to the Motor City club via Omaha and Indianapolis.

From this point of vantage, it appears as though the N. H. L. is doing everything within its power to build up the New York Rangers. Buddy O'Connor and Frankie Eddols, former Canadiens, strengthened the Blue Shirts no end and now Roy Conacher, who was unable to come to terms with Jack Adams, is working under Coach Frankie Boucher.

But do the Rangers need help as vitally as the Blackhawks? About 50 per cent of the fans, who attend N. H. L. games in Madison Sq. Garden don't know which is the home team. And, what's more they don't care. It's the floating population, not the New Yorkers, who jam the Garden.

On the other hand, native Chicagoans have exhausted the season's supply of tickets for Blackhawks games in the Chicago Stadium, hoping against hope that one day Bill Tobin or someone will come up with a hockey team. The Chicago fans will not play along with the current set-up much longer. They can't be that screwy, or they wouldn't have the wherewithal to lay it on the line for the season ducaus.

62 Feared Dead in 2 Planes

Worcester Pays Tribute—Bodies of six Worcester heroes dead are taken from Union Station, that city, while veterans and civic organizations and a large police detail stand at attention. The bodies were taken in solemn procession to the Memorial chamber of the municipal Auditorium where they will lie in state. More than 35,000 persons paid silent tribute as the procession wended through city streets.

Break Up "Commies" Meeting—Camera shows section of crowd of more than 3000, many of them veterans, singing the national anthem at Contemporary Hall, Trenton, N. J., which broke up a Communist meeting. Gerhard Eisler, alleged No. 1 Communist in America, failed to appear because it was "feared for his safety." On stage at right, Manuel Cantor (left) and Daniel Cohen, another scheduled speaker, joined in the song.
